Hernan walks through what he calls “Babilondon”, a metropolis where all the languages and cultures mix in an intricate web made of links between cultures coming from all over the world. He has always been linked to the audio-visual industry that is part of this city, from Motion Graphics to Filmmaking, Independent Music Videos to Documentaries and everything in between. Hernan works as a Visual Effects Artists with more than 10 Hollywood Blockbusters on his reel but that is only a shade of his obsession for images, creation, connexion and deconstruction where London plays a big role not only as field for research but as an endless source of inspiration.
